

Thou

Donald Bell and Maarten Ryder

♩ = 72

Cmaj7 Dmaj7 Cmaj7 Dmaj7 Cmaj7 Dmaj7 Em

Si - lent Word Sure - ly com - man - ding Light for the see - ing Lov - ing a world in - to be - ing Thou Thou Eye in the

F G A9/C# D Em7 F#m7

G D Bm G Em7(b5) D Dmaj7

dark - ness Might in the vast - ness Song of the mor - ning stars

- |                              |                                   |
|------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| 1. Silent Word               | 3. Wind and flame                 |
| Surely commanding            | Rushing and mighty                |
| Light for the seeing         | Smoke in the heavens              |
| Loving a world into being    | Young folk and old seeing visions |
| Thou                         | Thou                              |
| Thou                         | Thou                              |
| Eye in the darkness          | Fire for our faintness            |
| Might in the vastness        | Ground of our greatness           |
| Song of the morning stars    | Word in the waiting throng        |
| 2. Night at noon             | 4. Fools of God                   |
| Blood on a hilltop           | Wiser than wisdom                 |
| Crying in sorrow             | Stumbling and feeble              |
| Opening the tomb of tomorrow | Daring to live as your people     |
| Thou                         | Thou                              |
| Thou                         | Thou                              |
| One with our sadness         | Power in our meekness             |
| Wine for our gladness        | Perfect in weakness               |
| Bread in the open hand       | Throne of the humble heart        |

Copyright © 1989 Verse, Donald Bell. Music, Maarten Ryder.

All Rights Reserved.